Journal of Financial Intermediation 11, 486 (2002)

CALL FOR PAPERS

Financial Structure and Monetary Policy Channels

Sponsored by the Centre of Economic Policy Research (CEPR), CREI (Universitat Pompeu Fabra), and the Journal of Financial Intermediation

Barcelona, Spain, July 10 and 11, 2003

This seminar seeks to bring together first-rate current research on the impact of banking structure on the transmission of monetary policy. This conference will cover a broad range of issues and suitable topics include, but are not limited to:

- The monetary policy channels and the role of banks
- Impact of bank structure on monetary transmission
- The broad credit channel or credit channel
- The bank lending or bank capital channel
- Financial system architecture and monetary policy
- Disintermediation and its effects on monetary policy

The program committee is composed of Ignazio Angeloni (European Central Bank), Charles Bean (Bank of England and CEPR), Xavier Freixas (Universitat Pompeu Fabra and CEPR), Jordi Gali (CREI, Universitat Pompeu Fabra and CEPR), Anil Kashyap (University of Chicago Graduate School of Business), Benoit Mojon (European Central Bank), Eric Rosengren (Federal Reserve Bank of Boston), Anjan Thakor (University of Michigan), and David Wilcox (Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System).

Papers selected for presentation will be candidates for a special issue of the Journal of Financial Intermediation, although authors do not necessarily have to commit their papers to the journal. Journal submission fees will be waived for all papers selected for the program. All papers submitted to the journal will go through the same reviewing process and be held to the same standards as regular submissions.

An electronic copy of your paper should be submitted to jseabrook@cepr.org at CEPR by Monday 3 February 2003. We will notify people whose papers are selected by April 2003.
